while at work on July 5th; had black vomit on the seventh, and died in convulsions on the ninth, having complete suppression of pulmonary diseases which are so very prevathe urine after the morning of the eighth. The house in which Mulbrandon died is situated near the corner of Desoto and Pontotoc streets, in the southern portion of the city, on an elevated plateau of ground. It is a one-story frame building, containing six rooms and well ventilated. The sanitary condition of the premises is most excellent; the privy was well cleaned in May; good drinking water from a cistern fully firty feet from privy; drainage excellent. This house was occupied in 1878 by Mr. Holland and family. A scn of Mr. Holland was sick in the room in which Mulbrandon died in the latter part of July, 1878, but his disease is not known to have been yellow fever. After the recovery of the boy, and at the com-mencement of the epidemic of 1878, the Holland family removed to a point five miles distant from the city, where Mr. Holland died of the yellow-fever. Extract from Letter of the U.S. Treasury Department: "In conformity with your request the Secretary of State was asked to cause a thorough inquiry to be made into the matter by our Consulat Cologne, who cencludes his report as follows: 'I therefore state that it is my opinion, formed after what I consider a careful and painstaking investigation, that the Apollinaris Water, bottled at the Apollinaris Springs, as exported to the United States, is beyond question a Natural Mineral Water. The evicence which accompanies the Consul's dispatch abundantly sustains his conclusion that the Apollinaris Water, as imported, is a Natural Mineral Water."

This evidence was given after thorough examination by such eminent scientists of the Old World as PROFESSOR A. W. HOPHANN, FREE, of the University of Bertin, Member of the Scientific Department of the Kingdom of Prussia, Vice-President of the Chemical Society of Germany, etc., etc.

PROFESSOR W. OLDING, Professor of Chemistry at the University at Oxford, Chemical Judge at the Centennial Exhibition, Philadelphia, etc., etc.

A spurious article, purporting to be the genuine Apollinaris Water, being offered to the public, we warn all buyers to be sure that each and every bottle bears the Voltow Label, and the name of the Read of the Chemical Label, and the name of the Read of the Chemical Label, and the name of the Read of the Chemical Label, and the name of the Read of the Chemical Label, and the name of the Read of the Chemical Label, and the name of the Read of the Chemical Label, and the name of the Read of the Chemical Label, and the name of the Read of the Chemical Label, and the name of the Read of the Read of the Chemical Label, and the name of the Read of the Rea
